Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Sometime ago the city of Sacramento became conscious that delinquency among boys was increasing. Business men and civic leaders generally were worried. It costs a lot of money to take care of delinquent boys. A Santa Ana judge sent recently fourteen delinquent boys to Ione at one fell swoop .It cost the taxpayers of that city $15,000 to take care of 14 boys for a year. So with Santa Ana's plight in mind, Sacramento began to worry about its delinquent boys.

A lot of business men and heavy tax payers are "too busy" to do much about building character into boys. But spurred by the thought of what might be happening to the boys while they were "too busy," they did take time to do something about it. They called a mass meeting of the friends of scouting. They brought Eddie Cantor up from San Francisco between acts. Eddie Cantor spoke at this meeting for eleven minutes. About five of those minutes were his usual laugh provoking stunts. The other six minutes he told a very serious story that moved a six foot-four "vice president" of Swedish extraction, who sat on the stage, to shameless tears.

The story Eddie Cantor told was this. There were three little rag-a-muffins, sharp kids, who had to be sharp to survive, playing around the dirty streets of the New York Bowery. They had to live, for they were very tenacious of life, these youngsters. And they lived the best they know how. One day a business man, well dressed chap, walked through their street. saw them and stopped. "How would you boys like to go to a camp in the mountains for ten days?" The boys declared they would like nothing better. "Alright," said the man, "get what things together you can and I will be back here in an hour," The boys had plenty of time to gather all their possessions into bundles. Out to camp they went.

It was something new and heavenly, that life in camp. In the higher altitude it was very cold at night. One of the boys called "Shrimp" got up in the night and stole two blankets off sojourners in an adjoining tent. The next day the camp leader took him to one side. They laid out in the sun and a green slope and talked things over. The talk was kind and to the point and the "Shrimp" was much impressed. He only stole one blanket the following night.

Time to go home. The three waifs gathered in a tent after packing their poor belongings, and made a mighty resolve. When they grew up and had a lot of money, they would send more boys to mountain camps in the summer time. In time they did grow up and in time they did make a lot of money. And, at an annual cost of $150,000 those three men are giving 3,000 boys every summer an outing in the mountains. Eddie Cantor, the "Shrimp", told this story to the Sacramento business men. Sacramento is raising $30,000 for its boy scouts. It really looks as if the amount would be oversubscribed.

Nevada City is launching a drive to build a bigger and better scout organization in this community, and to erect in Pioneers park a big cabin which the Boy Scouts and the Campfire Girls can call their home. This drive is not being started because we want to give our young people a "good time." It is being done in order to build, through a constructive process of youth activity and education in citizenship, barriers for those boys and girls against delinquencies that lead to crime, and against false thinking that leads to communism. In the democracy of boyhood under enlightened leadership character is trained for good American citizenship. It is far cheaper, from a dollar and cents standpoint to contribute generously to the scout organization than it is to take the boys after they become delinquent or criminal. Of 18,000 convicts in California, it was found that only two had ever been Boy Scouts, and these two had never gone beyond the tenderfoot rank.

There are 225 boys in Nevada City eligible to either the Scouts or Cub organizations. The total membership in both organizations today is 61, of these 19 are cubs and 42 are scouts. One fourth, approximately of Nevada City's boys are enrolled in these character building organizations. It is a poor showing, discreditable to the city. It is high time this condition was changed for the better. A large group of business and professional men in this city are determined to change it. Every citizen, every fraternal, civic and patriotic organization, will have an opportunity to help. Don't fail your boys.

AN OPEN LETTER

Mr. Jerry Delaney:
PWA Director, Nevada County,
Dear Mr. Delaney:

Do you know that people in this county are beginning to refer to the New Deal as the Dirty Deal? Do you know that many a WPA worker whom you have compelled to "report" for PWA work without any chance, apparently, of getting a PWA job, thinks you are a very poor representative of Harold Ickes and President Roosevelt?

You are reported to have declared that you would wreck every WPA job now going forward in Nevada County, and whether you did say that or not, you are doing it. Yesterday you called off all the cement workers on Nevada City's new city hall on pretext that you had PWA work for them to do. But have you? Or will the men be called over to Grass Valley and kept standing around, losing their WPA time, while you keep them waiting for PWA jobs. Men from San Juan Ridge, who must make a 40-mile round trip to "report" to you are bitterly resentful of your autocratic and heartless treatment. It is said that if these workers protest this useless and wasteful round trip, you give them the option of "reporting" or going off the relief list. Is that true?

You, yourself, are a relief worker with a little temporary authority. Ought you not to have some compassion on the relief workers who work with their hands and are so dependent upon you? Why wreck the WPA jobs, which were authorized by the same authority, namely, President Roosevelt, as was the PWA work? For a little while in this county you have a great deal of authority over many men, most of whom have wives and children to support. Why not use a little moderation and kindness in exercising this authority, instead of bringing the name of the New Deal into such disrepute, and losing President Roosevelt, your employer, so many votes in this county?

Sincerely yours

H. M. LEETE.

DRIVE TO RAISE FUNDS OF SCOUTS CABIN IS BEGUN

The Nevada City District Committee yesterday announced plans to push boy scouting with increased vigor in order to get the greater values of scouting, citizenship and character training for the boys of this community: The committee will undertake a "crusade for better understanding and support" of the work, H. A. Curnow, district chairman, said, and will put the scouting program here on a business like basis and to secure funds to add to those already held to construct a boy scout cabin in the city park so that local scouts and cubs may have adequate quarters to meet in.

"With the scouting on the upward trend under the leadership of Scoutmaster George Schrader," Curnow stated, "it is necessary that all citizens be interested in helping to provide constructive activities for the leisure time of our boys so tha every boy in the district shall have the opportunity to have experiences which form habits of conduct and attitudes toward life conducive to good citizenship. Prevention is better than cure and it might be well for our citizens to realize that a few dollars spent in prevention will save many taxpaying dollars of "cure" for delinquency by providing constructive outlets for youthful energies and activities."

Horace Curnow is general chairman of the citizens committee and will be assisted by Frank Finnegan chairman of the advance gifts division; H. M. Leete, chairman of the business division; Jack Widauf, the chairman of the establishments division; George Schrader, chairman of the governmental division; H. E. Kjorlie, chairman of high school division; Walter Carlson, chairman of the grammar school division.

Each chairman is selecting his own teams so that a complete coverage of the community and its environs may be made in as short a time as possible. In this way all who desire will have the opportunity to assist this worthy movement and to conserve the time of those assisting in the "crusade" for a better knowledge and understanding of the scout program.

NEW HOMES BUILDING NEAR CITY RESERVOIR

Many new homes have been built in the last few months on the road just above the reservoir north of Nevada City. The road connects with upper Broad street and the old Oustomah mine is also on this road. It has become a favorite location for homes on account of the warm thermal belt and a beautiful view of the city and surrounding mountains.

Among those with new houses are V. A. Douglass, tko; Walter Sullivan F. Douglass, Mr. and Mrs. Brownsfield, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Champie have started work on a home on their newly purchased lot. The old P. Leonard home has also undergone considerable improvement and remodeling.

ELKS TO SEAT NEW OFFICERS TONIGHT

New officers of the Nevada City Elks will be seated at an impressive ceremony this evening. The ritual will be in charge of Hal Willis of Sacramento, a past district deputy grand exalted ruler. Accompanying him will be a delegation from his home lodge. J. J. Jackson is chairman of the committee in charge of the baked fish dinner which will be served the members prior to the installation ceremony.

ELECTION NEXT TUESDAY; LIQUOR DEALERS CLOSE

Election of city councilmen will occur next Tuesday. The polls at Armory Hall will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening.

The following seven men have been regularly nominated and among them voters will choose three for the office: Frank Davies, Frank Dillon, A. H. Haddy. Walter J. Hawkins, Robert Nye (incumbent), Charles W. Leiter, and James Penrose (incumbent).

Russell B, Farley, State Board of Equalization inspector, has issued a warning that all liquor dealers must close on election day. The law reads: "Every "on" or "off"-sale licensee who sells, gives away or furnishes any alcoholic beverage in any election district or precinct in any county in the state where an election is in progress, during the hours, when, by law, the polls are required to be kept open for voting, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

WORK TO START ON HIGH SCHOOL

Yesterday came word from the office of A. D. Wilder, Acting State Director, Public Works Administration, of the approval of the executed documents submitted to them by the Nevada City high school district.

With the approval by the Public Works Administration of these executed documents by and between the school district and the contractors, for the construction of two new units and the remodeling of the present school building, work is expected to start today.

Rollin E. Meyer, is the general contractor; Martin J. Reeves will do the plumbing, heating and ventilating; and the United Electric Company, the electrical work. Mooser and Lindley are the architects.

The construction of these permanent improvements toward which the Public Works Administration donated a grant of $31,091, on which 27 skilled and unskilled workmen will be employed for 190 days, is but another example of the result of cooperation between the Public Works Administration and the people of California.

Jane Barton to Show How to Behead Home Dragons of Drudgery

"Adventures in Home Making" brings thrills to Nevada City women.

Program to cover widest range of subjects ever prepared by home economists.

House wives who believe that the routine of turning out three meals a day and keeping a house in spick and span shape is one endless round of drudgery will be pleasantly shocked and surprised if they will drop in at Jane Barton's Homecraft Institute in the Nevada Theatre, Apr. 22, 23 and 24, under the joint auspices of the Nevada City Nugget and the Pacific Rural Press. For in her program Jane Barton proves that it is very easy to turn the monotony of housework into a never ending series of exciting adventures. In her programs Jane Barton covers every department of housewifely endeavor —and a great deal more besides. Modern home economics and science are almost daily conquering and beheading another of the Dragons of Drudgery by the application of some new discovery.

The program that Mrs. Barton presents has been made up almost entirely in answer to requests that have been sent in by home makers throughout the state. Mrs. Barton says that she couldn't fill all the requests that have been sent in by home makers throughout the state. Mrs. Barton says that she couldn't fill all the requests that were made because the three afternoons are too short to cover everything, but the program has been planned to include as many as possible. Literally thousands of women, for instance have written in or have asked Mrs. Barton to include a wide variety of whole-oven meals and meals-in-one-dish. These clever combinations can be quickly and easily be put together and slipped into the oven leaving housewives free for afternoon meetings or parties, or for pleasant occupations about the home which intrigue their interest.

Jane Barton has discovered from statements made by hundreds of home makers that the Sunday evening supper is the most universally hated by home makers and yet the family always turns up with huge appetites just as though they hadn't had a late dinner so she has devised methods that enable her to serve a delightful Sunday supper with practically no effort Sunday afternoon. How does she do it? Well, that's a secret but if you will come to the Nevada Theatre Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 22, 23 and 24 how to accomplish it.

The greatest fun in the world is asking a home economist expert a question she can't answer. But if she's a real expert she can tell you where to find ths answer even if she hasn't gotten it herself. At the Homecraft Institute, Jane Barton al-you can hear Jane Barton tell you ways sets aside a portion of the program for questions and answers. Thousands of home makers have learned to bring their problems to her. When she can't solve them on the spot, she either looks the answers up or tells the questioner where the solution may be obtained. The wide variety of questions she is asked, Mrs. Jane Barton says, indicates the tremendous scope of knowledge that a good housewife has to master. She isn't discouraged a bit when she gets a poser that is brand new because she says, she learns more herself in solving these problems than she does in any other way. That's why she encourages home makers to "put her on the spot."

During the year she gathers the answers to important questions and incorporates them in the next program. Wed., Thurs, Fri., at Homecraft Institute on afternoons of Apr. 22, 23 and 24 she is going to tell the home makers of Nevada City the answers to some of the questions that have been asked her in the past few months. Some of the problems she is going to solve during her three programs are: "What causes custards to separate?" "How can I get my children to go to bed early at night?" "Which is the proper way to serve—from the left or the right and why?" "What's the best way to plan an efficient kitchen?" "How should knit and crocheted garments be laundered?" Tips about painting in the home and dozens of other problems of equal interest to the housewives are included. Because of thousands of queries that she has to answer every year, Mrs B.arton has become one of the best informed home economists on the answers to problems that confront the modern housewife.

The Nevada City Nugget and the Pacific Rural Press extend a hearty invitation to every women in Nevada City to bring her problems to Jane Barton at the Homecraft Institute.

NEW HOGE VEIN PROVING RICHER THAN AVERAGE

Arthur M. Hoge, manager of Great Northern Mines Inc., states that the new discovery is so far holding up well and showing exceptionally good values.

Engineer Uren has been engaged to make surveys preliminary to driving cross cuts to intersect the vein on the 300, 450 and 600 levels. This work will be delayed temporarily until the course of the ledge is more fully determined by development work.

In speaking of the outlook for the property yesterday, Mr. Hoge said:

"This being an entirely new vein and all in virgin territory it is apparently, going to develop into some thing of importance, and which is, naturally, very pleasing news to the community."

"The only ore shoot that has so far been opened up and developed is the one that is known as the Hoge vein and which carries values much higher than the average values of the camp and if this new discovery is anywhere near equal to the one already discovered and worked out down to the 600 foot level, it will mean a very large tonnage of new developments and that will probably put the operation back into full time production."

METHODISTS TO HEAR MUSICAL PROGRAN EASTER

At 11 o'clock in the morning there will be an Easter musical service and the Easter sermon, by the pastor, the Rev. H. H. Buckner.

The evening service at 7:30 will feature Easter themes with the song program in charge of Ralph Cockran of Grass Valley.

Search and Seizure

That many thousand residents of Northern California, within a period of two weeks, should sign their names to any petition circulated voluntarily and without paid solicitors, may seem to many surprising.

Since the introduction of the initiative and referendum, the practice of circulating petitions of all kinds in this state has become almost pestiferous, and generally, except under the pressure of paid solicitation, has been increasingly unsuccessful.

But this avalanche of protest against the actions of the Black Senate Lobby Committee and the Federal Communications Commission is a pretty plain indication that the public has come to recognize them as invasions of personal rights which strike seriously at the fundamentals of American Liberty and which, if not curbed, promptly, may sweep aside the most sacred privileges guaranteed by the Bill of Rights.

Unreasonable search and seizure, as the Washington Post rightly points out, is intolerable among a free people, regardless of the cause it may be intended to serve. It is a violation of one of the basic principles of democratic government. A step further and it would rival the practices of the most outrageous of old-world dictatorships.

Compromise with such an attitude is out of the question. The issue is one that transcends that of party politics and is above any of mere personalities. Our revoluntionary forefathers expressed their resentment of abuses, little more grevious, in arms. Today it is heartening to feel that the people of this state are uniting to protect in the best manner of the present American tradition and that by sheer weight of numbers they seem assured of making their protest effective.

NARCOTIC USERS UNDER SPECIAL HIGHWAY BAN

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—Recognized by police as a potential killer, officers of California Highway Patrol constantly are watching the roads of the state to apprehend users of narcotics who operate auto mobiles.

"California's recently altered vehicle law makes it possible for courts to drastically punish users of narcotics who dare to drive automobiles on the public highways," says Ray Ingels, director of motor vehicles, "with the result that police today are making progress in removing one of the greatest menaces from the roads of the state In the past, conviction of this type of law violator was one of the biggest problems for all peace officers."

Driving "when addicted to or under the influence of narcotic drugs" is a felony, according to Ingels, and the offender can be sentenced to state prison for not less than one year nor more than five years or the county jail for not less than 90 days nor more than one year Fine of $200 to $5000 also is provided for the offense, or the court can impose fine and prison sentence combined.

Ingels' recent public commendation of Judge Frank M. Smith of the Los Angeles superior bench, for his co-operation in imposing severe sentence against a violator of the narcotic section of the vehicle code, was seen as an indication of the appreiation of police officers for support in their campaign to remove dope fiends from the roads.

RUSSIAN EXODUS TO EAST STUDIED

BERKELEY, April 9.—Plotting the eastward expansion to the Pacific by the Russians in the eleventh century, an artist employed by the Federal Art Project has been assigned to the Institute of Social Science at the University of California to draft a set of maps showing the movement through Siberia and into California during hundreds of years of continuous migration, according to an announcement today by Joseph A. Danysh, state director for northern California.

The maps will depict in a graphic manner the routes of migration and centers of population; the monasteries, forts and blocades erected and populated amid the eternal snows of Siberia. Trails and trade routes followed by succeeding generations of pioneers through the centuries will show the movement that extended as far os Port Ross in California.

Text to accompany the maps will describe in vivid detail the gradual settlement of Siberia; the portages through the Aleutian Islands towards Alaska, and the acquisition of huge tracts of land in the warm climate of California where grain could be raised to provide the essential foods for the colonists; up to the period when Fort Ross was purchased by Sutter in 1842 and the Russians finally receded back to the colder climes of the north.

This pictoria; presentation of historical data will be invaluable for classroom exhibits and will offer a display of visual educational matter healing with a cycle of migration and development that will be of interest and construction value to students of all ages.

KENTON MINE

Mr. George Gamble arrived in Nevada City last week and was met by his mine superintendent, Mr. William Wilson. They motored to the Kenton mine near Alleghany which Mr. Gamble is operating. Considerable mining and development has been done and the company is now sinking to develop new ore.

PLUMBAGO MINE

Ore is being mined for milling on the 600 foot level in the Plumbago mine at Alleghany. Development work and unwatering is going forward rapidly in the old shaft. It is also stated a new shaft is being sunk on the property. Mr. O'Brien of Detroit has a bond and lease on the property.

Mr. and Mrs. John McQuay who purchased a lot near Mrs. McQuay's sister, Mrs. Bert Foreman at Nevada City's northern limits, moved a small cottage they have built on their property, last Wednesday. They plan to build a larger home on the property later on.

IMPROVING PROPERTY

Mr. Fred Tibbetts of Berkeley, engineer for the Nevada Irrigation district, owns a choice home site just below the upper Sugar Loaf city reservoir at the base of Sugar Loaf mountain north of this city. He is having considerable landscaping done. It is in a warm belt and Mr. Tibbetts is planting nut and fruit trees, besides shrubs. Several large pines have been left on the plot and it will be one of the show places of this section when completed.

NUGGET ADS PAY

To The Voters of The Seventh Senatorial District

In August of this year the people of this District must choose their representatives in the Legislature. It has been my privilege to have served this District in the Assembly and Senate.

During that time we were faced with the most trying problems that have confronted California in its history. As your representative, I have tried to legislate for the best interest of the people of this District and the State in general.

In 1932 I made certain promises and I have fulfilled those promises in every respect. My record will show that I have saved the taxpayers of my District many thousands of dollars. As a result of efforts, mining is enjoying one of its most prosperous periods. Agriculture, lumbering, stockraising, and dairying have benefited by proper legislation. New roads have been added and old ones improved in my District. Our natural resources have been developed and protected. Labor and the aged have had a friend in court, and I have supported all progressive legislation.

On August 25th you will decide whether my record measures up to your requirements. This record will be submitted to you in detail before that date.

The people of this District have been very kind to me during my eight years of public life and I sincerely appreciate the many favors extended and friendships developed. The confidence, support, and friendships that I have enjoyed in the past is the reason that prompts me to again submit my name for your approval at the coming election.

Sincerely, State Senator,

JERROLD L. SEAWELL.

Golden Empire

This is our Golden Empire
Won by the men of old,
When they startled the world with that first mad cry
of "gold-Gold-GOLD!"

They founded our towns and our cities,
An Empire they reared in the west;
To the land that insistently called them
Each one gave his strong level best.
And they come again when we call them
From cabin and camp and mine,
With rollicking songs and laughter
And tales of old forty nine;
In fancy we see their camp fires
Gleaming by lonely rills,
Where their tunnels and shafts scar the gulches
And their trails lead over the hills.

And now with a new dawn breaking,
As we travel the Golden Way,
They are telling again how they gave us
The Empire we're holding today.

Golden Empire? What can that movement do for us?

Should we succeed in attracting tourists usward, they would be met at the state line and promptly escorted to California del Sur.

"Los Angeles is California," says our sister of the south, and "We Gather Them In" is her favorite motto.

But let us not be discouraged; let's tell the world about our own magic trails of history and romance; Let's extoll the wonders of our landscapes, our great resources, etc.

Let's emulate little old Los Angeles; Let's Boast, Boost and Brag.

A. MERRIAM CONNER.

TRAFFIC DEPT. BEARS DOWN ON DRUNK DRIVERS

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—Mixing alcohol with gasoline proved a costly experiment to California motorists last year, according to figures released today by department of motor vehicles.

Persons attempting to operate a vehicle while under influence of intoxicating liquor in 1935 paid $201,995.20 in fines, 1448 were sent to jail or road camps, and 3988 offenders lost their drivers' licenses. In 1934 drunk drivers paid $140,101.85 in fines for their offenses, 778 were sent to jail or road camps, and 2038 licenses were suspended.

"About 75 per cent of persons convicted under vehicle code provisions of driving while intoxicated are unable to regain an operator's permit," according to Russell Bevans, chief of division of drivers' licenses. "The reason for this situation is that persons so convicted must prove financial responsibility before a license can be reinstated by department of motor vehicles, and insurance companies are not inclined to accept such risks. When insurance is accepted, the rate invariably is prohibitive to the average vehicle operator."

Operation of a motor vehicle by a person under influence of intoxicating liquor is a misdemeanor and for the first offense the courts can sentence the offender to not less than 30 days nor more than six months in the county jail or fine him not less than $50 nor more than $500, or can assess both jail sentence and fine. Second or subsequent offense carries a mixmum sentence of one year or fine of $1,000 or both fine and imprisonment.

If an intoxicated driver is judged responsible for bodily injury to any person he is guilty of a felony and can be imprisoned for not less than one year nor more than five years in a state prison, or he can be sentenced to not less than 90 days nor more than one year in a county jail or fined not less than $200 nor more than $5000 or both fined and jailed.

Responsibility vs. Irresponsibility

The Narrow Gauge is a home institution, long established, and a responsible concern, paying taxes here, paying money out in steady wages which are spent here.

The Narrow Gauge being a responsible, established, easy-to-get-at transportation agency, and operating under the laws affecting roalroad companies, is regulated by public agencies, every action being subject to official scrutiny. Its rates and fares must be approved by the Railroad Commission, on due notice. Its employes' hours of labor are restricted by regulation. Its operations in many instances must be carried on "thus" and "so"—by direction of public agencies.

And yet the Narrow Gauge is subject to the competition of other carriers—trucks, who may give someone a temporary bargain, today, gouge someone else tomorrow. Is the money they earn here, spent here?

The Narrow Gauge does not complain of regulation. It does maintain, however, that through its various services by truck, by bus and rail, it is giving good service, at reasonable cost, and that it should be given first consideration when Grass Valley and Nevada City residents have need of transportation service.

EXPO MUSIC GOES 'RAND' AND 'RAND'

It's news when a man bites a dog. It's bigger news when Sally Rand, world-famous dancer, tosses away her fans and bubbles. Cloaked in a veil of mystery are Sally's plans for a sensational new dance which she will introduce at the California Pacific International Exposition in San Diego, during a week's engagement starting Saturday, April 11. Sally's performances will be free to all Exposition visitors.

MOJAVE REPORTS NEW GOLD STRIKE

The hope of sudden wealth is sweeping through Southern California as men talk of new gold and oil discoveries, according to reports received here yesterday.

A gold strike was reported by Slim Fritz, taciturn prospector, on the sun-bleached reaches of the Mojave Desert, the discoverer claiming the ore assays $4,000 a ton across a four foot surface.

The possibility of a new oil structure, with fabulous potentialties was reported to have been found near Redondo Beach within sight of the Pacific.

The Standard Gold Mines of San Diego owns the 200 acre property on which Fritz made his strike. Already there are a number of bidders, including George Holmes, discoverer of the Golden Queen strike, which he sold over a year ago to the Consolidated Gold Fields of South Africo for $3,000,000.

Near Redondo Beach, where restrictions against drilling for oil were lifted last year, dozens of small homes are being evacuated and truck farms abandoned in favor of oil operations. Verne Dumas, pioneer operator in the Signal Hill field, has brought in a well producing 200 barrels daily, which he is selling at 80 cents a barrel.

Personal

Mr, and Mrs. N. Spencer Wagner left yesterday for San Jose where they will spend a week or ten days.

Miss Lila Clemo, who has been confined to her bed for over two weeks at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. Sauvee, in Nevada City, is showing some improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Connell of Alleghany were Nevada City visitors yesterday.

Mr. L. Netz brought his son, Louis home from Jones Memorial hospital early this week. He has been in the hospital a month and is slowly recovering from a severe fracture of the right arm, near the shoulder.

Mr. Glenn Cleland, salesman for the De Soto cars under Mr. W. Heffren, motored to Sacramento Tuesday and returned with a new custom sedan he purchased for his own use.

Mr. Ed Frey had his tonsils removed at the Nevada City Sanitarium Thursday by Dr. B. W. Hummelt.

Mr. Ed Smythe, who suffered a stroke at his home in Willow Valley several days ago, is showing some improvement which is good news to his many friends and relatives.

GRUENWALD PROPERTY

Mr. O. Gruenwald has drifted into a spring on his property on Indian Flat west of Nevada City and found considerable coase gold. He continued in an open trench until he encountered a new ledge carrying excellent values.

Assayer Hal Draper and N. S. Wagner, mineralogist, made an examination of the property Tuesday. They also went over the development work of Mr. W. E. Bell on the same property and inspected a high grade stringer. Mr. Bell plans to drift to contact a larger ledge a short distance away.

A Glimpse of Building Activity

VOL. 1. APRIL 10, 1936. No. 15.

This little ad—as you know—relates to BUILDING. We want at this time to call your attention to a different kind of building than shelter.

The coming citizens of tomorrow, our present boys, need every possible assistance and encouragement toward bringing out the best qualities that are in them and minimizing the traits of character that lead in the direction of trouble for the boys themselves and their parents and their future associates.

The Boy Scouts, a Character Building organization of the finest type will soon be asking your co-operation to make their work possible for the coming year and we ask that you give them the consideration they deserve when you are asked to do your bit.

Superintendent McLean in charge of the school jobs, for contractor Meyer has the school lot looking like a big prospect hole with a power shovel making rapid work of the excavating.

Forms for the concrete foundation will probably begin to take shape during the coming week.

A judge reprimanding a criminal, called him a scoundrel. The prisoner replied. "Sir, I am not as big a scoundrel as your Honor"— here the culprit stopped, but finally added, — "takes me to be."

NEW WARNING: NEVER CROSS DOUBLE LINE

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—Never cross to the left over a double white traffic line on the highway.

That warning was issued today by E. Raymond Cato, chief of California Highway Patrol, in calling attention to the meaning of the new road marker which rapidly is appearing on city, county and state arteries.

The double stripe is the signal to motorists that they are operating their machines on a particularly dangerous section of the road. It is painted on the highways with four lanes and on all curves, grades, intersections, ets., and autoists who drive to the left across the warning sign are subject to apprehension by officers for reckless driving.

Mr. Jack Griffith of Nevada City has gone to Weaverville to spend Easter and the week end with his mother.

FORMER BLOOMFIELD RESIDENT IS DEAD

Theodore Wetzel, for many years a resident of Bloomfield Township, passed away a few days ago at the Masonic Home in Decoto. He was identified with the Derbec gravel mine above North Bloomfield for a long period, succeeding to the managership when Slyvia Gallivoti was murdered on Edwards Grade in 1891. When gravel mining became illegal in California, Wetzel went to Oakland where for several years he conducted a small hardware store.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, Mrs. Laura Wetzel, three sons, Theodore Jr., Will and Parker, and a daughter, Mrs. May Langpat, all of the bay region. The funeral was held last Saturday and was attended by W. A. Moulton of French Corral, brother-in-law of the deceased.

Attorney John Lewis of this city will spend Easter in Berkeley with his mother.

Mr. W. Hampton, who is with the Seven Aces mine at Alleghany, was a Nevada City visitor Monday.

CCC CELEBRATES 3RD ANNIVERSARY

The following bulletin of the U. S. Forest Service reviewing the splendid work accomplished by the CCC boys and celebrating the third anniversary of this admirable relief institution is of especial interest to all residents of the Sierra foothills:

(By C. GOLDSMITH)

The primary purpose of the Civilian Conservation Corps was emergency relief, and this has been provided to the extent that the program called for. This relief consisted, in part, of the monetary return to families in need. The major object, however, was to give the young men of the country, who had grown up during the depression with no chance to learn to work, an opportunity to prepare themselves to obtain and hold jobs when jobs should again become available. In accomplishing this major object it was necessary to provide profitable work and a portion of this has been furnished by the Forest Service as there was an unlimited reservoir of work projects available, due to the existence of plans covering a twenty year period of normal construction.

On the Tahoe National Forest the CCC Camps have performed invaluable services in a great many lines of work connected with the development and protection of forest resources. Some fortsters have said, "Let us wash our hands of the CCC" on the basis that foresters are not trained or interested in social work. On this theory forestry work would make little progress, as the application of forestry principles is entirely dependent on man power, and where man power is used, one cannot escape social service work. It has been said that the cost of CCC work has been exhorbitant. This has been covered by the life of the improvements. It also ignores all educational and training values which are a definite asset to the nation.

The camps on the Tahoe National Forest have given fire protection facilities which would not otherwise have been available for years to come. This is a valuable asset to the surrounding community in protecting the timber and grazing resources, both public and private.

The boys have performed an immense service to the community in acting as a reservoir of fire fighters. They are far better than any other fire crews, with the exception of loggers and woodsmen. This is of great value in making it unnecessary to dislocate the local industries by calling out, as fire fighters, men who are gainfully employed, with consequent losses through closing down operations. The immediate availability of the CCC boys and their training for th work make it possible to control fires quickly and avoid the major conflagrations that have in the past destroyed a great amount of local community values.

The CCC Camps are not only of value from a national standpoint, but are invaluable as an asset to the immediate communities where they are located.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—The Young Men's Institute, well known for the many vacation tours it has sponsored in the past, has completed plans for a cruise to Alaska this summer. The party will leave by special Pullman train on June 28th and sail from Seattle on June 30th, returning to San Francisco on July 12th.

An elaborate program of social activities and sightseeing has been arranged, and stops will be made at Ketchikan, Wrangell, Petersburg, Taku Glacier, Mendenhall Glacier, Junreau, Skagway, Lake Bennett and Sitka. The committee headed by Joseph T. Kielty has opened headquarters for reservations and information concerning the cruise at the Y. M. I. building at 50 Oak Street, San Francisco.

"ACME BREWERIES" TO IDENTIFY ACME BEER

Acme Breweries is the newest name that identifies a company product with the name of its maker. Previously the name "California Brewing Association" was used as distributors.

Karl F. Schuster, president states that "no change in personnel or the management will be made and that Acme Beer will be constantly advertised in newspapers throughout 1936 because this medium has so completely proven its value." Schuster mentioned that Acme Beer newspaper advertising began simultaneously with the legalization of beer and has continued ever since.

NINO MARTINI TENOR STAR TO SING IN SACTO.

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—Due to unforseen circumstances, the concert by Albert Spalding, American violinist, scheduled for April 7 was cancelled and in his stead the Sacramento Music Series is happy to announce that Nini Martini, tenor star of the Metropolitan Opera House will be here at the Memorial Auditorium on Saturday evening, April 18.

Brilliant success in his young life has already been achieved by Martini. He was acclaimed in opera at Milan, Italy, and in concert in many European cities prior to coming to America, where he has won fame in his work in concert, radio and cinema.

Mr. Martini has one of the largest concert repertories, numbering four hundred songs, in addition to a mass of arias to select from— and all the time he is learning more and more. Unlike the run of opera artists, Martini's training has been equally in concert from the very start. Beyond this, his style of singing is of a perfect finish, and coupled with his handsome apearance, appeals universally to the music loving public.

Tickets for the Spalding concert will be good for the Martini appearance. The seat sale for the Martini concert of April 18 is now open at Ye Music Shoppe, 1014 10th Street, Sacramento. Mail orders given prompt attention.

DEAD DOE IS FOUND NEAR SKI COURSE

Mr. L. J. Haverstock U. S. mail carrier for the Washington route, found a big doe lying dead at the roadside about one half mile east of the Nevada City-Grass Valley Ski course on the Tahoe Ukiah highway while enroute to Nevada City Wednesday morning. Mr. Haverstock placed the big deer in his car and brought it to the county hospital requesting Superintendent Rodda to notify Game Warden Earl Hiscox of the mishap.

The animal had evidently been hit by a car during the night and left to die in the snow.

SPANISH MINE CLEARS ROAD

The Spanish mine management sent a tractor out over the highway the first of the week clearing the four mile road from the Spanish mine to Washington and continued southwest to the junction of the Washington and Ukiah highways. Mr. E. J. Haverstock, mail carrier, stated they made a fine job of it clearing a wide roadway.

The present rainfall up to date is over sixty inches with probabilities of more storm which will give this section more than average, a good thing for the country.

Lowery H. Rogers was in town from Youngs Hill Monday.

DR. JONES' NEW PLANE CRACKS UP

Dr. Carl P. Jones' new $10,000 four-passenger airplane crashed at the Nevada City Airport Tuesday night as Pilot L. A. (Slim) Perrett sought to land.

This is the first accident to happen on Nevada City's new airport.

The five occupants of the plane, Perrett, Gus Helbach and Carl Sahl, Grass Valley automobile dealers; James Holmes, Grass Valley manager of the Colfax Fruit Growers Association and J. P. McKennon, Grass Valley automobile salesman, were only bruised.

Perrett stated the wheels locked and the landing gear shifted to the right throwing the airplane off balance. It slid along the field about 100 feet badly damaging the wings and the body. The motor became detached from the plane and rolled 200 feet, and was finally stopped by the log barrier, bounding the field.

The plane had been chartered for the flight by the four men. The wreckage of the plane was cleared at daylight Wednesday, disappointing a large crowd which gathered at the field as early as 7 o'clock to view it.

Sahl said the crash did not bother the passengers. He said the only injuries were bruises and a few scratches when they were thrown against the side of the cabin as the plane struck the ground. One of the windows in the cabin was cracked.

Dr. Jones had the new plane for about three weeks. Perrett is the pilot for Dr. Jones and Errol MacBoyle. The latter is the manager of the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation who owns a fourteen passenger Vultee plane.
